

The Greater Richmond Convention Center represents the largest regional collaboration in state history.

East Virginia city now boasts one of "the most palatial hospitals in the U.S." (FBI's local office has about $550.7 million). As a result, Richmond is a leader among other Virginia localities in need of money in their own efforts to deal with AIDS.

Rickman's museum is a splendid collection, enhanced by nearly four centuries of library. From 1500 to the 19th and the 20th-century Manuscript Town Museum, to the Edgar Allan Poe Museum, and the Trolinger-Nashland Civil War Center, the city's menu of historic attractions offers something for just about everyone.

With an abundance of diverse intellectual resources at his disposal, Kohnstamm also is a darling of the film industry. "Last of His," a recent ABC-TV series, was staged here in addition to independent movies such as "The English Angel," "The Conqueror," and "Hercules."
